

TRANSCRIPT PREPARED BY THE CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE
Transcriber's Office

February 28, 2000 LR 291

But you know the peculiar thing about these letters? They implore me not to mention their name because they still might face retribution, if not from the judge, from people in the legal profession who are the judge's friend. Do you all realize that if a woman complains against a judge, that other judges will treat her in a less than professional and fair way? Are you all aware of that? Do you know that if you do something to Jesse James, Frank James is not going to be your friend? If you do something that offends one of the Dalton brothers, the other three are not going to be your friend. So there the women sit, exposed, vulnerable, powerless, dismissed, disrespected, denigrated in the legal profession. And what is to be done about it? Who is to bell the cat? Well, I will bell the cat in this situation, and I am sometimes...let me tell you all something. I do a weekly cable program, Tuesday night in Omaha, and I have callers, black people, who condemn me about spending so much time on issues that pertain to white people. And I have to explain to them that as a public official, when I become aware of anybody being wronged or mistreated, I have a responsibility to do something about that to the...

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...extent that I can, and I will continue to do so. And if people in my district don't understand, then they put somebody else in office, but as long as I'm in office, that's the way I'm going to function. They tell me what these women would say toward me, if it were not that they needed this help and I was the only one they could come to, and I say I know that, but I'm not doing it for their thanks. I'm not doing it for their gratitude. I'm doing it because the obligation is on me. It's one that I've assumed. Was that my last time to speak, Mr. President?

SENATOR CUDABACK: You have one more, Senator Chambers. Senator Chambers, you're recognized to speak.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Thank you, and I think with this and my close I won't have to file any more motions, I won't have to speak further on this provision which, as I stated, I'm going to support. But I'm going to discuss judges and the judiciary whenever I get a chance because I want the record to be shot
